

QFI Partner Code of Conduct

The Queensland Futures Institute has a Code of Conduct that provides an ethical framework for the conduct of partners' activities.

The Code of Conduct defines how Queensland Futures Institute partners are to relate to each other and the community.

The Queensland Futures Institute requires that partners operate in a professional manner, with the highest level of integrity.

Introduction

Compliance with the Code of Conduct will build trust between partners and other parties.

Partner organisations are to contribute positively to the image and the objectives of the Queensland Futures Institute.

Partners will demonstrate that they uphold best practice principles, standards and a commitment to continuous improvement.

Implementation

This Code of Conduct provides a common behavioural framework for all Queensland Futures Institute partners. Together with the QFI's other policies, it is a key part of the Queensland Futures Institute culture.

The Code of Conduct provides a set of guiding principles for partners to incorporate into their activities. It is not intended to be all-encompassing

First and foremost, the Queensland Futures Institute serves its partners.

Partner Statement

As a partner of the Queensland Futures Institute I will:

- contribute proactively to the economic and social growth of Queensland
- conduct my business generally in accordance with the laws and regulations of Queensland
- compete fairly in the markets in which I operate
- aim to bring long-term benefits to the State, rather than short-term organisational or individual advantage
- co-operate with and support the Queensland Futures Institute to achieve its corporate objectives
- show respect for the diverse range of people and cultures with whom I work and for their human rights
- not be involved in corrupt practices, bribery, discrimination or similar improper behaviour
- refrain from making representations (media, government, other) on behalf of the Queensland Futures Institute, unless otherwise requested by the Chief Executive
- act ethically and with integrity, decency and respect for the community and the environment
- perform and comply with any variation or amendments to the Code of Conduct made at any time by the Queensland Futures Institute.

I recognise that if the Board of the Queensland Futures Institute determines that I have breached any principle of the Code of Conduct, my partnership may be suspended or terminated by the Board at its discretion.
